General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the last candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the first.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme - not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate's response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification/indicative content will not be exhaustive.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate's response, a senior examiner must be consulted before a mark is given.
- Crossed out work should be marked unless the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

Specific Marking Guidance

When deciding how to reward an answer, examiners should consult both the indicative content and the associated marking grid(s). When using a levels-based mark scheme, the 'best fit' approach should be used.

- Examiners should first decide which descriptor most closely matches the answer and place it in that level.
- The mark awarded within the level will be decided based on the quality of the answer and will be modified according to how securely all bullet points are displayed at that level.
- Indicative content is exactly that – they are factual points that candidates are likely to use to construct their answer.
- It is possible for an answer to be constructed without mentioning some or all of these points, as long as they provide alternative responses to the indicative content that fulfils the requirements of the question. It is the examiner's responsibility to apply their professional judgement to the candidate's response in determining if the answer fulfils the requirements of the question.

Placing a mark within a level

- Examiners should first decide which descriptor most closely matches the answer and place it in that level. The mark awarded within the level will be decided based on the quality of the answer and will be modified according to how securely all bullet points are displayed at that level.
- In cases of uneven performance, the points above will still apply. Candidates will be placed in the level that best describes their answer according to the descriptors in that level. Marks will be awarded towards the top or bottom of that level depending on how they have evidenced each of the descriptor bullet points.
- If the candidate's answer meets the requirements fully, markers should be prepared to award full marks within the level. The top mark in the level is used for work that is as good as can realistically be expected within that level.

Question Number	AO1: Identify and interpret explicit and implicit information and ideas	Mark
2	Accept any reasonable answer based on lines 5 to 9, up to a maximum of 2 marks. As he stood, he leaned upon his weapon for support, and yet his tall figure and the massive framework of his bones suggested a wiry and vigorous constitution. His gaunt face, however, and his clothes, which hung so baggily over his shrivelled limbs, proclaimed what it was that gave him that senile and decrepit appearance. The man was dying – dying from hunger and from thirst. Quotations and candidate's own words are acceptable. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• he does not stand up straight, he leans</li> <li>• he is tall</li> <li>• 'the massive framework of his bones'</li> <li>• he has 'a wiry ... constitution'</li> <li>• he is described as 'vigorous'</li> <li>• his face is 'gaunt'</li> <li>• his clothes are baggy</li> <li>• his limbs are 'shrivelled'</li> <li>• he appears to be 'senile'</li> <li>• he appears to be 'decrepit'</li> <li>• he is frail</li> <li>• he is dying (from hunger/thirst)</li> </ul>	(2)

In responses to the following question, examiners should be aware of the different ways candidates may structure their responses. There should be sufficient evidence analysing both language and structure to reward responses.

Responses that are unbalanced cannot access Level 2 or above, where analysis of both language and structure is required.

Question Number	Indicative content
3	Reward all responses that explain how the writer uses language and structure to describe the man's journey and what happens when he puts down his bundle in lines 10–24. Responses may include the following points about the language of the text: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• initial verb choice indicates the extent of his travel: 'journeyed'</li> <li>• adverb introduces an emotive element as his pain is physical and mental: 'painfully'</li> <li>• language of scale, mainly adjectival, used to indicate the vastness of the landscape: 'great salt plain', 'stretched before his eyes', 'distant', 'broad landscape'</li> <li>• use of metaphor to describe how inhospitable the landscape is: 'savage mountains'</li> <li>• double adjectives used for emphasis and additional detail: 'wild questioning eyes', 'small, scared face'</li> <li>• adverb and verb combination used to indicate immediacy and force of the girl's cries: 'Instantly there broke'.</li> </ul> Responses may include the following points about the structure of the text: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the passage begins with the man's extreme physical pain and ends with the little girl's minor bump</li> <li>• the passage is structured as a contrast, moving from the vastness of the landscape to the 'grey parcel' and the smallness of the girl</li> <li>• repetition of 'hope' indicates the decline in his fortunes from a vestige of 'vain hope' to the emphatic, 'no gleam of hope' and repetition to emphasise the diminutive size of the girl, 'little'</li> <li>• use of listing to suggest the desperation of his search, 'North, and east, and west', and later to emphasise the girl's appearance, 'little speckled, dimpled'</li> <li>• use of thoughts spoken out loud to indicate the moment of acceptance</li> <li>• rhetorical question used to show the man's acceptance of his fate: 'Why not here'</li> <li>• use of simple sentence shows the girl's age and naivety of feeling: 'You've hurt me!'</li> <li>• use of exclamation mark for emphasis: 'You've hurt me!'</li> </ul> (6 marks)

Level	Mark	AO2: Explain, comment on and analyse how writers use language and structure to achieve effects and influence readers, using relevant subject terminology to support their views.
	0	No rewardable material.
Level 1	1-2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Comment on the language and/or structure used to achieve effects and influence readers, including use of vocabulary.</li> <li>• The selection of references is valid, but not developed.</li> </ul> NB: The mark awarded cannot progress beyond the top of Level 1 if only language OR structure has been considered.
Level 2	3-4	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Explanation of how both language and structure are used to achieve effects and influence readers, including use of vocabulary and sentence structure.</li> <li>• The selection of references is appropriate and relevant to the points being made.</li> </ul>

Question Number	Indicative content
4	Reward responses that evaluate how successfully the attempt to create sympathy for the man and the little girl is achieved. References to the writer’s techniques should only be credited at Level 2 and above if they support the critical judgement of the text. Responses may include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the opening lines create a strong sense of sympathy as they successfully and graphically depict the effect that the landscape and the lack food and water has had upon a once-strong man</li> <li>• this strong sense of sympathy is also demonstrated through the use of simile to indicate the extreme dryness of his skin: ‘parchment-like’</li> <li>• the characterisation is subtle - there is much to admire in the man and his inner strength is indicated by the ‘unnatural lustre’ in his sunken eyes</li> <li>• powerful simile is used comparing this once-strong and vigorous man as resembling ‘a skeleton’, later supported by the adjective ‘gaunt’, suggesting skeletal or cadaverous emaciation, creating sympathy</li> <li>• there is dramatic emphasis through the use of repetition and the dash, that the man is ‘dying – dying from hunger and from thirst’</li> <li>• the second paragraph develops strongly by establishing how bleak their situation is, how unforgiving the landscape is and the absence of water, the symbol of life</li> <li>• the desperation of the situation is powerfully brought home by the man’s ‘wild questioning eyes’</li> <li>• the appearance of the little girl in this barren and inhospitable landscape is shocking, made more so by the man’s calm acceptance of their imminent death</li> <li>• shock and sympathy are successfully created through the simple dialogue and the man’s apology which is incongruous in the circumstances</li> <li>• some candidates may express different levels of sympathy for the man and the girl</li> <li>• the girl’s pretty appearance is in marked contrast to the man’s, suggesting how much he has cared for her, despite his dire situation; this may increase the reader’s sympathy for him</li> <li>• there is a gentle suggestion that the man has sacrificed any food or water he might have had to the little girl, ‘showed that she had suffered less than her companion’, possibly increasing the reader’s sympathy for the man</li> <li>• the touching scene where he kisses her injuries better emphasises her innocence and naivety, and so increases the sympathy of the reader for both of them</li> <li>• sympathy is powerfully created through the child’s inability to comprehend that her mother has died, which is touching in the circumstances</li> </ul>

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• a growing sense of horror and shock is successfully created through the man's use of euphemism to suggest their coming deaths which is not understood by the girl but is not lost upon the reader: 'I guess you'll see her before long', 'be patient awhile, and then you'll be alright'</li> <li>• the final paragraph, with its reference to heaven and the rapid and speedy arrival of the buzzards evokes a strong sense of sympathy in the reader.</li> </ul> (15 marks)
Level	Mark	A04: Evaluate texts critically and support this with appropriate textual references
	0	No rewardable material.
